

Badger Solitaire

The origins of this game are unknown. It is a game for just 1 player.

The player has 24 badger pieces.

A badger is placed on each circle, except one. The empty circle can be the middle circle in the second row, or the middle circle in the third row, (or any circle if you are good at it!)

The object of the game is to remove the badgers into the sett until there is only one left 'outside'.

A badger is removed by jumping over it with an adjacent badger, along any of the straight lines on the board. Only one game piece can be jumped at a time and there must be an open circle on the other side of the piece being jumped for the jumping piece to land on. Jumped pieces are immediately removed from the game board and into the sett, (which can be anywhere to the side of the board.)

When no more jumps are possible, count the number of pieces still on the game board to determine your score.

Final Score:

6 or more = You need more practice.

5 = Poor (Amateur Player).

4 = Below Average (Beginner Player).

3 = Average (Average Player).

2 = Very Good (Advanced Player).

1 = Excellent (Expert Player).
